UNDERSTANDING CHILD AND YOUTH RISK MANAGEMENT STRATEGY IN QUEENSLAND

National Principles for Child Safe Organisations

In early 2019, the Australian Human Rights Commission released the National Principles for Child Safe Organisations (the National Principles). Endorsed by members of the Council of Australian Governments, these principles outline 10 high-level elements that are fundamental for making an organisation safe for children and that help to guide organisations in understanding the aspects of creating a child safe culture.

The National Principles are:

- Child safety and wellbeing is embedded in organisational leadership, governance and culture.
- Children and young people are informed about their rights, participate in decisions affecting them and are taken seriously.
- Families and communities are informed and involved in promoting child safety and wellbeing.
- Equity is upheld and diverse needs respected in policy and practice.
- People working with children and young people are suitable and supported to reflect child safety and wellbeing values in practice.
- Processes to respond to complaints and concerns are child focused.
- Staff and volunteers are equipped with the knowledge, skills and awareness to keep children and young people safe through ongoing education and training.
- Physical and online environments promote safety and wellbeing while minimising the opportunity for children and young people to be harmed.
- Implementation of the national child safe principles is regularly reviewed and improved.
- Policies and procedures document how the organisation is safe for children and young people.

On endorsing the National Standards the Queensland Government accepted the overwhelming majority of recommendations made by the Royal Commission and is now focussing on working with government and non-government organisations to take action to keep children safe.

The Blue Card system aims to create safe and supportive service environments where children and young people can receive services and participate in activities essential to their development and wellbeing.

Organisations who run businesses regulated by the Blue Card system must meet the requirements for a child safe organisation provided on the Commission for Children and Young People to help create a safe and supportive environment for children.

Developing a strategy helps you to identify potential risks of harm to children and young people so you can create and implement solutions to minimise these risks.

A well-developed strategy will help your organisation achieve its objectives by providing a clear and consistent framework to guide and support the stakeholders who work/volunteer with your organisation or who benefit from your services.

The Queensland Government has implemented a child and youth risk management strategy for organisations

Developing a strategy helps you to identify potential risks of harm to children and young people so you can create and implement solutions to minimise these risks.

A well-developed strategy will help your organisation achieve its objectives by providing a clear and consistent framework to guide and support the stakeholders who work/volunteer with your organisation or who benefit from your services.

We may request a copy of an organisation's strategy at any time, and failure to comply with the requirement to have a child and youth risk management strategy is an offence under the blue card system.

A strategy has 8 mandatory requirements:

1. Statement of commitment
2. Code of conduct
3. Recruitment, selection, training and management
4. Reporting disclosures and suspicions of harm
5. Managing breaches
6. Risk management plan for high-risk activities
7. Managing compliance with the blue card system
8. Communication and support

An understanding of these requirements can be found at
